

Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.

With Milne, the performance is more than the promise

Witness the transformation of a 60-year-old receiving vault into a beautiful, functional 528-crypt garden mausoleum.

Progressive management, in the persons of Alan Chesney and Duncan Munro of Mt. Auburn, concluded that the receiving vault was becoming too expensive to maintain, and was an outmoded use of valuable land.

Hence the call to Milne to transform an otherwise unusable hillside—in a valuable area—into what is now the highest revenue producing facility per square foot in the cemetery. That's Milne Performance, always a little more than the promise.

Whatever your particular needs for the imaginative, productive solution, your best bet has to be Milne . . . master blender of the aesthetic with the practical. We'd like to help you. Write or call collect.
